Why use IFRS 17 e-learning?

Insurers have told us that they urgently need to increase the knowledge of their employees globally about IFRS 17 developments. Working in collaboration with insurance companies, we have identified relevant topics and a preferred learning method: e-learning. This will allow you to update your organisation on IFRS 17 developments that are relevant to your industry and to distribute this globally and cost effectively. Anytime, anywhere.

Is IFRS 17 e-learning for you?

The programme is specifically designed for those in financial and actuarial functions within insurers or other organisations who need to understand future accounting for insurance contracts. These modules will also be of interest to those working within reporting, controlling, IT, internal audit, risk, ALM/treasury, account management and tax.

Subject Matter Expertise

Our IFRS subject matter experts have designed the modules together with learning experts. Using their extensive knowledge of and experience in IFRS 17 for insurers and other financial regulation, they have designed modules focused on the relevance and impact of IFRS 17. They've thought about both theory and practice for insurers specifically.
